Council staff face up to £10,000 pay cuts

UNION leaders have claimed some staff at Northampton Borough Council are facing pay cuts of up to £10,000 as a result of the authority's equal pay review.

The Guildhall's 1,174 staff were yesterday handed letters telling them how the pay review would impact on them, with 24 per cent expected to lose money from their annual salaries.

Stuart Richards, from the GMB union, said his team had been overwhelmed with calls from people due to lose money.

He said: "It's certainly not been the greatest 24 hours at the Guildhall. Obviously the people we're seeing are those who are losing out most, but there are some significant drops in wages for people. We've had a number who are losing £10,000.

"A lot of people are obviously just stunned at the moment, and these aren't high paid workers, a lot of them are the lowest paid."

A number of Guildhall workers have also contacted the Chron to explain how the review will hit them.

One woman, who asked not to be named, said she had lost

£4,000 a year despite working for the council for 15 years, while her colleague, who has only been with the council for six months, had been given a £7,000 pay rise.

She said: "There's no loyalty. We've had no pay rises for two years and all our hard work means nothing.

"I've given 15 years of my life to the borough, it's not good enough.

"I'm going to have to get a second job. It's not a good climate to jack it in and look elsewhere. If you stay faithful to your employer you expect them to reward your loyalty, instead we get a pay cut."

Another, who stands to lose more than £3,000, added: "I've had thousands cut from my income, and I'm just not going to be able to live on what they've left me with.

"The feeling among staff is this hasn't been handled well by the council, and they should have been more honest with us."

The pay review is due to come into force on January 1, 2011. Those who lose out are due to have their pay protected until the end of 2011.

The review is part of a national review designed to make sure workers have equal pay.

The Guildhall's 1,174 staff were told this week whether they would be receiving a pay cut, some of up to £10,000 a year, or a salary increase as part of Northampton Borough Council's equal pay review

Machine will bust grime

STREET cleaners have been handed a new £84,000 high-pressure weapon to help with the sticky fight against discarded chewing gum.

Northampton Borough Council has unveiled a new street cleaning vehicle, called the Grimebuster, that is equipped with an on-board water heater that can generate hot jets of up to 98°C. The water is sent through a hose under high pressure and the jet blasts grime out of the pavement.

The Grimebuster, which also cleans a wide stretch of pavement more effectively, is said to be "10 times quicker" than a worker using a traditional hose.

The machine was purchased after an environmental audit of the town centre found unsightly blobs of chewing gum on the town's pavements were making the town centre look "uncared for".

Council bosses have also revealed they bought the machine because it is "extremely efficient" at lifting chewing gum.

The Grimebuster's effectiveness has already been tested in Gold Street and now its regular route will include Bridge Street, the Drapery and Marefair.

It will hit the streets between 5am and 7.30am as it is most effectively used when few people are around.

The machine cost £84,000, which was met through partnership funding from the Northamptonshire Improvement and Efficiency Partnership.

The equipment will also be made available for other councils in Northamptonshire to use if they wish to.

The borough council has offerred Northamptonshire Probation Trust the use of its old street cleansing pressure washers to help in its Community Payback programme.

Councillor Trini Crake (Lib Dem, Boughton Green), portfolio holder for the environment, said: "The Grimebuster is making a real difference in the town centre, cleaning up the gum and grime and improving the environment for everyone who visits, works or lives in Northampton."

She said that dropping chewing gum, or any other litter, is punishable by a fixed penalty notice of £80.

Strictly CHRON Dancing

Saturday November 20

Dancers pledge to raise money

APART from not falling over in front of the judges, the participants who have signed up for our sister paper the Chronicle & Echo's Strictly Chron Dancing competition all have one aim in mind – raising as much money as possible for a very worthwhile cause.

In July the Chron teamed up with Macmillan Cancer Support to launch a massive campaign to raise £1.55 million to fund an improved haematology unit to treat blood cancer patients at Northampton General Hospital.

Currently, the majority of cancer patients at the hospital are treated in the purpose-built Centre for Oncology, which was built with the help of Chron readers and Macmillan supporters 12 years ago, after a similar fundraising campaign.

But patients with blood cancers – leukaemias, lymphomas and myelomas – are treated in an area of the hospital that has not been updated for many years.

The new Macmillan Haematology Unit, due to open at the end of next year, will be an enlarged, purpose-built unit that will offer a relaxing, comfortable and diversionary environment to patients, as well as the extra space needed to improve ways of working and reduce waiting times.

But the charity needs to raise £1.55 million to ensure work can go ahead.

With this in mind the contestants who have signed up for our competition are throwing themselves into training, hoping to put their best foot forward on the dancefloor to try to raise as much money as possible towards the appeal.

One Strictly contestant who knows the importance of the work cancer units do is the editor of the Chron's sister magazine, Image, Ruth Supple, whose younger sister Elizabeth has battled the after-effects of bone cancer for the past 25 years, after contracting the disease as a teenager.

Elizabeth, now aged 38, is unable to walk without the aid of crutches, following a recent operation to replace the prosthesis she had implanted in her right leg when she was just 13, and has long-term health problems including osteoporosis and a weak heart, lungs and kidneys, as a result of the aggressive chemotherapy she had to endure as a child.

Ruth said: "Elizabeth has never been able to do any of the things many – including myself – take for granted, like running and dancing.

"So if I equal last place in this Strictly Chron Dancing contest I will be happy as, even though I can't dance, I can at least try for my special sister who'll never get such a chance."

Strictly Chron Dancing takes place at the Park Inn Hotel on Saturday, November 20.

450 Christmas jobs created

THREE large employers in Northampton have announced they will be creating more than 450 jobs in the town during the Christmas period.

Royal Mail, Debenhams and Sainsbury's are all planning to employ extra part-time and full-time staff to meet the high demand from customers over the busy festive period.

Royal Mail is recruiting 400 additional temporary staff to cope with the extra workload at its mail centre in Swan Valley Way. The facility at Swan Valley operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week so there are a variety of shift patterns including weekend and part-time evening work for people who may want to earn some extra money before Christmas.

Debenhams is planning to employ 50 extra staff at its town centre store and Sainsbury's will need 14 more people at its store in Weedon Road. The jobs will be a mixture of full and part-time, covering areas including check-out, customer service and online shopping, from late November.

Helen Webb, Sainsbury's retail human resources director, said: "We are very proud to be able to announce these opportunities at what is a very challenging time for the economy. Retail is a fast-paced, dynamic industry all year round but there really is no more exciting time to be in store than Christmas."

"We are looking for enthusiastic, hard-working colleagues who have a passion for great customer service."

"Last year 24 million customers visited our stores in the week leading up to Christmas and our seasonal colleagues are absolutely crucial to ensuring we meet the needs of our customers."

Royal Mail began recruiting this week and the additional temporary staff will need to start work at the beginning of December.

Runaway

MORE than 2,500 runners pounded the streets of Northampton on Sunday, as Run' 10 was hailed a great success by organisers despite the wet conditions.

Rainy skies did not stop participants taking on both the 5km or 10km race courses, which started and finished at the Sixfields stadium, with many raising thousands for charity in the process.

Chris Holmes, director of event organisers Northamptonshire Sport, said: "It went really, really well. The rain held off for most of the race, we had thought the weather might put a few people off but we had a great turnout."

"People have commented that the crowd support in the town centre was great too. There is a mixed bag of people who run a lot of races and those who might run occasionally but do the race because they get to run through the heart of their own town and that's what we want - to get people thinking about health and exercise."

Scott Hazell, aged 31, from Coventry won the 10k race completing the track in just 32.22 minutes. He said: "I am delighted. I thought it was an excellent race and the crowd support was amazing. I have run about 26 races this year, but I haven't done this race before and it was a great experi-

Damian Carr, aged 27, from Kettering, won the 5k race in 16.22 minutes. He said: "It is a fantastic local race, which always has great crowds and it's a brilliant feeling to have won it."

Northampton runners were also enthusiastic about the atmosphere and track. John Fitzhugh, aged 56, from Kingsthorpe said: "I found it a bit tougher than last year but I thought the amount of people who came out to cheer us on was really impressive despite the weather."

Martin Lynch, aged 43, from Nether Heyford, said: "It is quite a testing course with a few hills but it had an amazing atmosphere."

There were also 47 people running to celebrate the 21st birthday of lowdown youth, who provide vital support services to 12 to 25-year-olds, who despite a few setbacks all completed the race. Dawn Wright, director of lowdown, said: "They all did amazingly well. We had someone who had bronchitis and still ran and another with a knee injury and one with no running experience, but they all dug deep and completed their races."

MOT your home and save energy

Source www.pilkington.co.uk

A combination of a 'Big Freeze' winter, rising fuel costs and the drive towards reducing our carbon footprint, means we're all looking for new ways to stay warm while keeping costs down. And a new survey shows energy-efficiency is top of the list for home-buyers too. The Pilkington energiKare™ 'MOT Your Home' research reveals that 78 per cent of homebuyers now rate it as a major deciding factor when purchasing property. Loft insulation, an energy-efficient boiler, energy-efficient heating, energy-efficient windows and cavity insulation were the five fittings most of us were concerned with.

1. Loft insulation (80 per cent)
2. Energy efficient boiler (79 per cent)
3. Energy efficient heating (74 per cent)
4. Energy efficient windows (73 per cent)
5. Cavity insulation (62 per cent)

But as we weigh up the cost of one of the coldest winters for 30 years and wait for our updated fuel bill to arrive there are some simple steps we can all take to make our homes more energy and cost-efficient.

TV presenter and architect, George Clarke best-known for Channel 4's The Home Show – has teamed up with Pilkington to suggest changes we can all make. As he says: "It's reassuring to know that more and more people are taking their home and their carbon footprint seriously, after all our homes are the biggest investments we are ever likely to make. What's important is that people are taking steps to change and recognising the added value greener living brings, such as cost savings and increasing the saleability of homes. "Installing good-quality loft insulation is one of the most effective energy-saving jobs homeowners can do, which is good news as 80 per cent of homebuyers in this survey consider it the most important green factor when buying a new home. You could chop a whopping £150 annually off the average energy bill by installing insulation that is 270mm thick. "Another big saving over time is replacing the windows with more energy-efficient glazing. This can cut fuel bills by 20 per cent over their lifetime. Pilkington energiKare™ glazing, for example, can reduce heat loss by up to 90 per cent, compared to single-glazed windows, and at the same time allow in more heat from the sun. Even turning down the thermostat and fitting energy saving light bulbs can make a difference and be done instantly and cost effectively." The research carried out about by Pilkington energiKare™ also revealed that the installation of solar panels and self-cleaning windows were two of the most popular areas for home improvement among homeowners looking to add value by going green.

Julia Berkin, Marketing Communications Manager at Pilkington comments: "This last winter has certainly led more people to re-evaluate the energy efficiency of their homes and it's encouraging to see that despite the recent recession, people are continuing to place sustainable living high on their agenda." Upgrading from single glazing to Pilkington energiKare™ energy efficient double-glazing could save more than £10,000 in fuel bills over the lifetime of the windows. Promising energy-efficient solutions for every style of home, the advanced glazing technology reduces the amount of heat lost through windows while allowing more heat from the sun in, helping to create a warmer environment. This offsets the normal central heating used to heat the home.

'20th birthday' for 61-year-old

A TRANSPLANT patient who was given a new heart two decades ago is ready to celebrate his 20th 'birthday' this week.

Lewis Sander, aged 61, of Wheatfield Road, Abington received a new heart at the age of 41 on October 6, 1990.

Tomorrow he celebrates 20 years since that date, healthier than he was in his thirties when he would struggle to walk to the shops.

Mr Sander said: "Earlier this year I could joke with a barmaid that I'll be 61 in April and 20 in October."

"I tend not to look ahead too far so I wasn't really anticipating 20 years."

"But I'm sure the doctors who were involved in my transplant are surprised I've lasted this long."

"At the time the nurses would say not to ask them how long I'd last because they just didn't know."

Mr Sander was diagnosed with a weak heart as a teenager and believes he would not have lived much longer than his 42nd birthday if it had not been for his heart transplant.

He counts himself doubly lucky as he also had a kidney transplant in 2004 after the steroids he took for his heart condition caused damage to his kidneys.

Mr Sander, the chairman of the Harefield Transplant Club, believes he is currently the second-longest surviving heart transplant patient in Northamptonshire.

He said his one regret about his heart transplant is that he did not take the chance to write to the family of the 26-year-old man whose heart he has.

He tried to contact the family of the woman who donated the replacement kidney and they chose not to reply, but he feels the family of his other donor might have felt differently.

He said: "I would have liked to have met them, but what I would say now I don't know."

"Thank you" is something you say when someone buys you a pint.

"It's totally inadequate when someone's deceased loved one has given a part of themselves so you can live."

"I certainly would have liked to celebrate with them on Wednesday."

Hackers target ex-council chief

THE former leader of Northampton Borough Council has criticised banking chiefs after more than £8,000 was taken from his online account by computer hackers.

Councillor Tim Hadland (Con, Weston), who led the borough council until 2007, noticed £8,500 had been removed from his Santander bank account in June this year.

Without his knowledge, the money had been moved from his savings account into his current account and then withdrawn by somebody based in Eastern Europe.

Fortunately, he spotted the unauthorised transaction almost immediately and alerted the bank straight away.

They managed to block the transaction and get the money back, but despite promises he would hear from the bank's fraud department within seven days, he has heard nothing and also had no response to a formal complaint for more than three months.

Councillor Tim Hadland had £8,500 withdrawn from his account

The lack of response from the bank has left the former council chief in the dark about exactly how the computer hackers got into his account and he is worried the attack could happen again.

He said: "In terms of customer service, there's been nothing.

"I want an explanation in writing and some reassurance they're taking this matter seriously and are doing something about it.

"I don't know if it can happen again now. The fraud department was supposed to get in touch within a week, but I've not heard anything."

After our sister newspaper, the Chronicle & Echo, contacted Santander about Councillor Hadland's problem, they apologised and gave him £50 compensation, a gesture which he has labelled 'an insult'.

The bank said: "We take all reports of fraudulent activity very seriously and we have a number of measures in place to deal with this type of activity.

"We sincerely apologise for the problems Mr Hadland experienced following the fraudulent activity on his account and have offered him £50 as a gesture of goodwill."

Owner in dog attack faces jail

Alan Gibbs shows his injured hands after he was attacked by two dogs owned by Cederic Conterno

THE owner of two Staffordshire Bull Terriers that attacked a pensioner and killed his pet dog has been warned he is facing jail.

Cederic Conterno, aged 26, of Manfield Road, Northampton, appeared before magistrates where he pleaded guilty to two charges of failing to control his dogs.

The court heard Conterno had let the Staffordshire Bull Terriers, one male and one female, into the garden of his terraced house on August 13 this year.

The dogs, however, managed to escape from the garden before savagely attacking 74-year-old Alan Gibbs and his pet dog

Murphy as they walked along Brunswick Court.

Mr Gibbs was taken to hospital suffering serious bite wounds to his hands. Murphy later died from its injuries.

Defending Conterno, Caroline McGann said: "It appears they have jumped the wall into the neighbour's garden."

"What has happened then is the two dogs have gone out on a jaunt, they have seen another dog and I am sorry to say they have gone for the dog."

Ms McGann said the dogs had belonged to a "friend of a friend" of Conterno and he had only taken them after he became concerned for their welfare.

She agreed with a recommendation that the male dog, which had escaped previously, be put down.

However, Ms McGann said the female dog, which is pregnant, was a "loving and clingy" dog and should be spared.

Presiding magistrate, Derek Loud, told Conterno his two dogs perpetrated a "very serious attack".

He said: "It was a low wall in your garden, just three or four foot high, and one of the dogs had a history of escaping. In our mind this has passed the custodial threshold."

The case was adjourned until later this month for reports.

Bypass scheme halted

A BYPASS for Flore and Weedon has once again been put on hold.

Daventry Town Council's planning group was told last week that Northamptonshire County Council will do no more work on the project.

The scheme has ground to a halt due to a lack of money and no extra housing being built in Daventry to create an overwhelming need for it.

Sugar-coated answer to beating the big freeze

SUGAR will play a key role in keeping Northamptonshire's roads clear from the worst ravages of the weather this winter.

Northamptonshire County Council, which maintains the county's roads, has reviewed its gritting procedures after the worst winter in 30 years led to the budget being overshot by almost £1 million.

A new type of sugar-coated salt called Safecoat – a derivative from the sugar production process – which can be used more sparingly and reduces corrosion to vehicles, will be used by the authority. Although it costs 25 per cent more than ordinary rock salt at around £40 a tonne, County Hall plans to stockpile the same levels of it this year as it did rock salt last year.

The winter weather caused national shortages of gritting salt last winter with some authorities running out altogether and having to go cap in hand to other councils for supplies.

Figures in a report before the county council's cabinet next week show the authority used almost 22,000 tonnes of salt last winter on the roads compared with 14,750 the previous year.

The number of so-called precautionary treatments in which gritter patrols hit the roads almost doubled to 94.

As part of the review, the county council has pledged to provide borough councils, such as Northampton, with their own grit to ensure pavements and pedestrian thoroughfares, such as Abington Street, are kept safe.

There will also be constant communication between gritting lorries and a central control hub so drivers can be diverted if necessary. Councillor Heather Smith, county council cabinet member for transport and highways, said: "We don't know what weather we'll get in the coming months but after the past two years we do know that we need to be prepared for the worst. Keeping the road network open is a huge challenge and it requires a great amount of organisation so that we can work around the clock to keep the network running."

The report also revealed the number of grit bins that can be used by the public increased last year from 150 to 1,780, following hundreds of separate request from county residents.

According to the report, a total of an extra £150,000 will be invested in winter maintenance this year and any additional costs over and above the initial £1.42 million budget will come out of a central contingency fund.

Algae 'is a risk'

DOG owners have been reminded about the risk to their pets at Daventry Country Park after an increase in the concentration levels of blue-green algae.

Earlier this month an outbreak of the algae at the country park prompted a warning to visitors to not let their pets swim or drink from the reservoir.

However it has been confirmed that levels of the algae have considerably increased in the past week and dog owners are being urged to keep their dogs on a lead at all times in the park.

Blue-green algae are tiny organisms that develop naturally in warm conditions and can cause illness to any animals that drink it or lick it from their fur.

John Harris, public space corporate manager at Daventry District Council, said: "We would urge all pet owners who visit the country park to be aware of the increased risk of blue-green algae and keep their dogs on a lead and away from the shore at all times.

"The algae has become more concentrated in the past few days and so we need to raise awareness of potential risk of illness to dogs that may come into contact with it at the water's edge."

The blue-green algae is expected to disappear naturally.

Avon's former site is cleared

Bulldozers rip down the final section of Avon's former headquarters next to the River Nene

CE picture by DAVE IKIN MNCE-02-10-10-DI28

PLANS for the redevelopment of the site of the former Avon headquarters next to the River Nene in Northampton should be revealed next year, following the demolition of the firm's old tower block.

Workers completed the demolition of the old Avon building at the weekend.

It is now planned to redevelop the area as part of a wider project which will see a number of new homes and businesses built alongside the river, with the full scheme stretching as far as Delapre Abbey on the other side of the River Nene.

London-based development group, Garbe, is overseeing the work on the site of the cosmetics firm's former HQ.

The project is being overseen by the former leader of Northamptonshire County Council, Mick Young, who now works for the firm.

He said: "Avon's new headquarters, which they have been in for a year now, was the first stage of the redevelopment of the area and now a number of other old buildings in the area are being demolished so further development can take place.

"We have worked with Avon on the demolition of their old headquarters and we're now looking at the plans for the redevelopment of the area.

"I would imagine it would be some time next year before a planning application for the development is put together."

Garbe is currently in talks with the West Northamptonshire Development Corporation (WNDC) about the redevelopment of the site.

It is expected that up to 2,000 new houses could be built on the entire site, which stretches from Avon to Ransome Road, close to Delapre Abbey.

It is hoped work to build the first 450 homes on some parts of the wider site could begin within the next 18 months.

Employees marked Avon's 50th year in the UK in September 2009 by moving into their new headquarters.

The building is said to be the greenest in the cosmetics giant's worldwide portfolio of offices.

It features 5,000 sq metres of glass to maximise natural light, has rainwater harvesting tanks, kitchen worktops made from recycled yoghurt pots and solar panels on the roof.

Riding finals joy for Aimee

A SCHOOLGIRL from Northamptonshire will hope to saddle up for success this week when her Pony Club team takes part in a top competition at the National Exhibition Centre in Birmingham.

Aimee Russell, from Brixworth, will join four other young riders from the Oakley Hunt (West) Pony Club team at the prestigious Horse of the Year Show, which begins on Thursday.

The 13-year-old, a pupil at Moulton Science School, will ride her pony Seawitch in a series of obstacle relay races in the mounted games section of the show, competing against riders from five other Pony Clubs in the UK for the Prince Philip Cup.

She told the Chron: "I'm so excited to get out there with my team. This has been my dream for ages."

"The nerves haven't got to me yet. I think they will hit me on the night. But if we all keep our heads together I think we've got a really good chance."

The Oakley Hunt (West) team is one of only six Pony Club teams to qualify for the Horse of the Year Show, which comes at the culmination of the year's Pony Club competition circuit.

Aimee's sister Jessica, now aged 17, rode as part of the same team in 2006 and 2007, and gained victory in 2008, when she was 15.

Aimee has been riding with the team since she was about five years old and her mum Donna Salado said she hoped her younger daughter would be able to emulate her sister's success.

She said: "We're really proud of Aimee for getting to the show this year."

"Having seen Jessica in it I really wanted Aimee to have the same chance because she's spent years watching Jessica and wanting to ride there."

Aimee said: "Because of how well Jessica did the pressure will be on me. We're quite competitive so I want to outdo her and win first time."

Aimee and the rest of her team will be cheered on by family and friends as they compete from Thursday to Saturday in the hope of a place in Sunday's final.

The Horse of the Year show is shown live on Sky Sports from Thursday until Sunday.

Your residential sales problems are going, going, gone!

- Since expanding our services into Residential Sales a few months ago and as part of our continued expansion we are pleased to welcome Mark Carroll to join our team. With over 30 years experience within the industry Mark joins an already highly experienced and successful group at Ashby Lowery and is very excited at becoming part of this well respected and highly regarded business
- “The market appears to have changed during the last three to four months. The appearance is that it is a very precise market with buyers and sellers’ coming to terms with what represents value to them from their own perspectives. It is important for the agent to have a thorough understanding of the current market conditions and with this understanding, being borne out of considerable experience we can better understand the requirements of our clients. Vendors want to achieve the best possible price and therefore it is vital to market properties to buyers in the most comprehensive way possible and once interest is generated communicate effectively and knowledgeably with the prospective buyer. Experience and knowledge is key in this regard” commented Mark.
- In addition to sale by private treaty we will also be holding an “Autumn Auction” which will enable people committed to selling their property as soon as possible to achieve a sale within a time frame which suits them
- For anyone thinking of selling or trying to sell their property at the moment Ashby Lowery can offer unrivalled experience, comprehensive marketing and quality of service which is second to none all at highly competitive fees. ## Synth pop at band's core

ELECTRO dance quartet Fenech-Soler have just released their debut album. The record by the county based band follows the re-release of single Lies, which received heavy airplay from the likes of BBC Radio 1, XFM, NME TV and has been championed across the scene. Band member Ross Duffy said: "The reaction to Lies has been amazing. "The song is one of the older ones on the album, it's quite a short sharp song with a summer feeling." Members of Fenech-Soler, who are based in King's Cliffe, have spent the last year-and-a-half writing their self-titled album.

Having seen their independently released single Stop & Stare play-listed at BBC Radio 1 in May and reach the Top 10 of both the dance and indie single charts, the band signed to B-Unique. "We recorded the album at home between our drummer Andy's home and our bedrooms," explains Ross. "We had a lot of demos knocking about but Lies was the first song we felt was good enough quality to progress from, it was very much a starting point for us. "Once we recorded that the rest of the album followed, we knew we could produce it at home rather than go into a studio with a producer. "The album is self titled, we wanted to just make sure people understood the name. "A lot of love has gone into creating the album and we're very excited to have it out and have it in our hands. "We're really proud and we want to get out and play it live now." Fenech-Soler have been busy playing across the country and are now preparing for their next tour which will take them across the UK. The core sound of the band is electronica but live they perform with guitars, drums and vocals. "Live we have a bit more of a rock set up," explains Ross. "The majority of the album is pop music but we didn't go out to intentionally write three-minute pop songs. "We like big choruses and big hooks, there's definitely a pop element but there's a good flow of tracks on the album and there's more dancy tracks." Ross is joined in the band by his brother Ben, bassist and keyboard player Dan Soler and drummer Andrew Lindsay. He explains they're influenced by music ranging from George Benson to the Chemical Brothers. He adds: "Things like Daft Punk got us into electronica music but we're also into stuff like R'n'B, Justin Timberlake and Neptunes – there's a wide influence there. "We've taken a lot of different influences but have a synth pop core." New single Lies and the band's self titled debut album are out now on B-Unique. Classical boy band Blake will be at Derngate in Northampton tonight

A magical mix of classic pop

THE classical boy band Blake will be bringing their magical mix of the greatest pop and classical anthems to Derngate in Northampton tonight. Blake's incredible musical journey started in 2007 when four friends reunited on Facebook, forming a vocal group which has stunned audiences all over the world. Over the last three years they have performed live on The Alan Titchmarsh Show, GMTV, BBC Breakfast, Loose Women and Last Choir Standing. In 2008 they won a Classical BRIT Award for Best Album.

Tonight their show, which starts at 8pm, will combine some of the best pop and classical music, along with the boys' humorous onstage mischief. Tickets are priced £22 and are available from Royal & Derngate's box office on Northampton 624811.

Music masters Illegal Eagles

The Illegal Eagles, firmly established as the ultimate celebration of the stunning musical mastery of The Eagles, are playing at Derngate on Wednesday at 7.30pm.

The band will be performing all the classic Eagles hits in this concert including Hotel California, New York Minute, Life In The Fast Lane, Tequila Sunrise, One Of Those Nights, Lyin' Eyes, New Kid In Town, Take It To The Limit, The Long Run, Rocky Mountain Way, Witchy Woman and Heartache Tonight. Tickets priced £20 are available from the box office on Northampton 624811.

Austen's women

REBECCA Vaughan will lead audiences on a magical encounter with Jane Austen's best loved characters at Uppingham Theatre tomorrow.

Austen's Women features Elizabeth Bennett, Emma Woodhouse, Fanny Price, Anne Elliot, the Dashwood Sisters and several lesser known characters. Tickets cost £10 (£8.50) from the box office on 01572 820820 or the website www.uppthearts.co.uk

Thriller's web of lies still spreading

PSYCHOLOGICAL thriller The Talented Mr Ripley continues at Royal & Derngate this week. Ex-EastEnders Michelle Ryan stars as Marge Sherwood, while Tom Ripley is played by Kyle Soller. The play has been adapted by dramatist Phyllis Nagy from Patricia Highsmith's bestselling novel and follows Tom Ripley, an enigmatic conman with a flair for manipulation and deceit.

The Italian Riviera is the backdrop for the play, in which Ripley is sent to coax home the wayward son of a wealthy financier, his web of lies spreading until murder becomes his only escape.

The production is directed by Raz Shaw and is described as a fascinating and refreshing take on the classic novel, which is probably best known from the 1999 film starring Matt Damon, Gwyneth Paltrow and Jude Law. It is the theatre's latest Made in Northampton production, following on from the success of the Hometown season, and ends its run on Saturday.

Tickets are priced from £27 to £11. To book call the box office on 01604 624811 or visit www.royalallderngate.co.uk.

Triple bill at comedy club

THREE more acts will take to the stage at the new home of live comedy in Corby, The Comedy Club at Lodge Park Sports Centre tomorrow.

Starring in this month's show are MC Kevin Shepherd, opening act Duncan Oakley and headliner Richard Morton.

Kevin did his first and very well received Edinburgh show Kevin Shepherd: Comics Die in Hot Cars in 2006 and since has travelled the world peddling his brand of comedy.

Duncan performs an infectious mix of musical comedy and stand-up with one of his trusty guitars – Maurice (Fender Strat), No.7 (acoustic) or The Lezza

While Richard has appeared on The Stand-up Show (BBC) & Jack Dee's Saturday Night (ITV) and is a stand-up comedian, singer, songwriter and winner of the Time Out Comedy Award, Full show details are available at www.hahaheeh.com including free Comedy Club Membership for ticket discounts to this show (next show November 12).

Tickets cost £10 Comedy Only or £26 for two comedy tickets and a combi platter for two. Ticket Hotline: 07954 784 704. Info at www.hahaheeh.com. Buy at www.ticketsource.co.uk/lodgeparkcomedy

Keep live music alive in village

A GIG promoter is appealing for music fans to support two forthcoming shows in a bid to help keep live music in a popular village venue.

This weekend Wishbone Ash play the Wilbarston Hall in the village with Walter Trout playing later in the month.

However, promoter Richard Boyles, from Loud Promotions, has said unless ticket sales are good for both it could spell the end of shows.

Mr Boyles said: "We have had some fantastic shows at the venue over the years and everything we put on is not for profit.

"However, we can't afford to lose money, we need about 290 people at both shows.

"At some recent shows we have only had about 120 people and we can't function on that basis.

"We dearly want to carry on but need people to support us."

Wishbone Ash play on Saturday, with Walter Trout playing on Saturday, October 15. Both shows cost £17 in advance and doors open at 7.30pm. Tickets are available from www.loudpromotions.co.uk.

Back to hallowed halls

MORE than 20 years after Michael Douglas won an Oscar as scheming Wall Street trader Gordon Gekko in Oliver Stone's acclaimed film, the character's mantra – "Greed is good" – rings louder and clearer than ever.

The global recession continues to bite and much of the blame is laid at the revolving doors of avaricious bankers, who took big risks and somehow enjoyed massive bonuses for their spectacular failure.

Against this backdrop of mismanagement, writer-director Stone returns to the hallowed halls of New York's financial district, where banks go cap in hand to the US government for bail-outs to strengthen the system's crumbling foundations. Aside from a brief cameo from Charlie Sheen as Bud Fox, Gekko is the only returning character for the sequel, which pits Douglas's dinosaur, who has been languishing behind bars, against a new generation of men in suits.

The global financial landscape may have changed but the pursuit of profits at the expense of friendships and the natural world has not.

As the lead character in Wall Street: Money Never Sleeps tells his environmentally conscious fiancée: "The only green is money, honey."

The film opens in 2008 with Gekko (Michael Douglas) being released from prison with his effects, which include a gold money clip and a hefty, brick-like mobile phone.

He emerges into a world that is firmly controlled by the financial community and teetering on the brink of ruin. Gordon finds new success with a best-selling book and tour, telling his adoring public: "The mother of all evil is speculation. It's a global disease, like cancer, and we've got to fight back."

In the audience is ambitious trader Jake Moore (Shia LaBeouf), who is the boyfriend of Gordon's estranged daughter Winnie (Carey Mulligan). He is inspired by Gordon's words but knows that making contact would jeopardise his relationship with the woman of his dreams.

When Jake's mentor Louis Zabel (Frank Langella) commits suicide after his beloved company is taken over by vicious rival Bretton James (Josh Brolin), the young man swears revenge and enlists the help of Gordon to destroy Bretton and the people he works for.

Wall Street: Money Never Sleeps bares its teeth at the banking community but ultimately doesn't draw blood, using the current recession as a hook for a retreat of the original film with some tearful father-daughter bonding thrown in for good measure.

Suzuki Swift

REVIEW BY IAN DONALDSON

Suzuki opting to play it safe with the new Swift

IT'S got a completely new body, yet looks like the old one; it's bigger but lighter and the engine is smaller but more powerful and less polluting. Welcome, the new Suzuki Swift.

With more than 1.6 million of the old Swifts built around the world (and 55,000 of them sold in the UK), this is the company's most important model by far. So no pressure to get the new one right, then.

No wonder Suzuki has taken the same road used many years earlier by Volkswagen when it had to refresh the first Golf; cautious evolution rather than radical revolution.

It has served VW rather well and the latest Swift looks like being as helpful to the Suzuki bank balance as seven production plants around the world gear up for its arrival (ours come from Hungary).

The newcomer is, predictably, a little longer, wider and taller than before, helping make it a bit safer (collecting a top five stars in the EuroNCAP test) and a bit larger inside, although the rear doors are a little smaller than before to make the body more rigid.

The petrol powered Swift, by far the biggest seller in the UK, now has an engine down from 1.3 litres to 1.2, but made a tad more powerful and quite a lot less polluting than previously.

A diesel arrives next year and there will be a replacement for the old Sport warm hatch version some time later. The previous 1.5 litre automatic Swift is replaced by a model using the same new 1.2 engine as the manual transmission car.

The new baby was launched to the press in Munich and a top bod from Suzuki spent some time telling us how different new looked from old. You could have fooled me; there's a bit more curved aggression about the latest car, but a current owner is most unlikely to spot one on the road and notice the difference.

Which may be no bad thing. Buyers obviously liked the lines of the outgoing model and it would have been daft of Suzuki to meddle too much with a proven winner. It's just that designers do go on a bit.

The car comes in the same three grades as before and every one has seven airbags and electronic stability control as standard – this latter a feature that's a proven lifesaver as it helps drag the car back on line if you hit a bend too fast.

Suzuki bangs on about the 'sportiness' of the Swift, when it's not a sporty car at all, thank goodness. What this little Suzuki delivers is a decent drive in a car that's well built, good to look at, well equipped and likely to last a very long time.

On Germany's so-smooth roads the new Swift proved a comfortable, quiet companion and moved along in a committed but non-sporty manner.

It is dearer than before, with the cheapest version (an SZ2 three-door) up £600 to £9,995. There's a bigger price hike, a considerable £1,245, attached to the model tested here, the top of the range SZ4 in five-door guise.

You do get a well equipped car for your money, though. Standard fare includes bigger alloy wheels, automatic air conditioning, cruise control, Bluetooth integration in the sound system and a push button start (leave the key in your pocket).

Davis not feeling pressure

LIAM DAVIS insists the Cobblers players do not feel under any pressure – and says the start to the current season has given him more encouragement than the way the team started last term.

At the 10-game stage this time last year, Town were 17th in league two with three wins, a draw and six losses.

This time around, they are 19th with two wins, four draws and two defeats, a record that has given them an identical points tally.

But this year there has been none of the upheaval of last, during which Stuart Gray was sacked as manager with the club still under the cloud of relegation.

Fortunes changed in December of 2009, when the team embarked on a run of just one loss in 22 games.

With the vast majority of the season still left, Davis says the squad are remaining calm about what lies ahead.

"I wouldn't say we are under any pressure," said the winger-turned-left-back. "Naturally you want to get wins early in the season and get the points under your belt."

"But if you look at last season we had a terrible start and then we went on a run and could have got in the play-offs."

"Obviously we're disappointed with the start we have made to the season but we all know there is a big part of it left. So this year we're not going to put ourselves under any unnecessary pressure at all."

Although the points haul so far this season has mirrored that of last term, there is much more of a feelgood factor around Sixfields thanks to a glittering Carling Cup campaign that has seen them win at Reading and Liverpool.

Davis says the squad are more upbeat about their chances of being involved in the promotion mix this time around.

"The start to this season has been better than the start to last season, I believe," he said. "We haven't got the wins we would have liked, there have been games where we should have picked up three points and we've drawn or lost."

"But we can't really look back to last season too much and compare how we started that one and how we've started this one."

"We just need to get on with it and see how it goes in the next game."

The Cobblers are at Cheltenham Town on Saturday (ko 3pm).

SCRUM-HALF Lee Dickson says Saints have the squad and experience to win the Heineken Cup this year.

After excelling in their first season back in the competition to be the only Premiership club to reach the quarter-finals last season, Dickson feels they are now perfectly positioned to launch a serious assault on European rugby's biggest prize.

Saints start their Heineken Cup challenge tomorrow night (Fri) against French Top 14 outfit Castres in front of the Sky Sports cameras at Franklin's Gardens (ko 8pm).

It is a decade since Saints won the Heineken Cup for the only time and Dickson is looking to emulate the class of 2000 by lifting the famous trophy at the Millennium Stadium in Cardiff on May 21.

He said: "This is the best competition in the world because they have the best players playing against each other, which is great."

"That is why we want to be in it, and the pinnacle is to win it - and that is what we are going for this year."

After winning four games out of five to sit second in the Aviva Premiership, Saints go into Friday's clash against Castres full of confidence and Dickson says the whole club is bubbling with excitement.

He said: "We are just excited about the games to come, everybody is up for the Heineken Cup, there is a buzz about the club."

"If you can't get up for Heineken Cup rugby you shouldn't be here. Everybody is buzzing - the backroom staff, the players, everybody is buzzing for the game on Friday. The atmosphere is brilliant at the moment."

After Northampton's European adventure ended in the cauldron of Thomond Park last season, Dickson says Saints have to pick up as many bonus points as possible to seal a home quarter-final this time.

"From last season we have learned you must win your home games, and also if you can pick up bonus points at home it is massive," said Dickson.

"When you go away you have got to get points somehow."

"It is hard to go away in the Heineken Cup, everybody prides themselves on their home record."

"If you go away and pick up a losing bonus point, when it comes to the end of the pool stages it is key."

"We need to be a bit more streetwise when we are away."

"As Saints we go into every game wanting to win, any competition we play we want to win, that is our sole aim, but in the Heineken Cup it is a very high level."

"When we go away the first option is to win, but we need to be a bit more streetwise, play a bit more field position and pick up points away from home, which is key for us come the end of the pool stages."
